

MAD LIBS™

World's Greatest Word Game

On My Drive Home

The                      are                      towards me, noun verb, gerund through me. In this cold,                      is noun

a mandala of veins. A                      wire adjective
fence next to me is verb, past tense

with trash.                      says, build name a                     , build a                     . The pavement noun noun

is                      sand & the adjective noun verb ashore from cold shock                      at me. verb

I know those eyes. They are not                     
adjective
                    . They are not                      flowing
noun noun

and                      isn't                      when it's                     .
noun adjective noun